

Americas Retreat from Victory: The Story of George Catlett Marshall

Americas Retreat From Victory, based on Wisconsin Senator Joseph McCarthy's speech in the Senate on June 14, 1951, remains an important but overlooked indictment of American foreign policy as dictated by General George C. Marshall during World War II and in the wars aftermath in Asia and Europe. In effect, the decisions made by the U.S. Government led to the enslavement of millions of people in China, Korea, and eastern Europe, as the U.S. essentially gave away its hard-won victory in the war to the Soviet Union and the Chinese communists. McCarthy paints an alternative, well-documented portrait of George Marshall as the leading personality behind Americas short-sighted and often disastrous decisions made to appease Stalin and the communist rulers in China...an important book, with ramifications continuing in today's world.
