

Come Back to Waioli : A Brief History of The Salvation Army Waioli Tea Room Manoa Valley - Honolulu Hawaii

A brief history of The Salvation Army Waioli Tea Room in Honolulu Hawaii. Built in 1922, the Tea Room served as an adjunct vocational training center for young women in residence at the adjoining Childrens Home which was established by The Salvation Army in 1909. The book follows the historical chronology, its population of boys and girls who were given to the Salvation Army for custody when parents could not care for them or they were abandoned. For many, it was the only home they knew throughout their childhood. Personal stories are included, details of the home and tea room development, financial struggles, and reclamation maintaining its place in a very supportive community. Salvation Army officer names are used throughout.
