What better way to grab people's attention than having a video at the top of your website/blog or sales page?

Cosgrove Publishing

Although it is not the only marketing strategy around; and you will see that there are still people (myself included) with sites that don't harness video technology (usually out of choice NOT out of inability); if you deal in information products, and want to make a profit from them, you have to consider video. Even if it's just a hobby, you have to seriously ask yourself what is the best way to deliver the information you're selling on your website or sales page or blog. And that means that unless you're an exceptional copywriter, or can afford $5,000 to pay for one, then chances are you're going to lose most visitors to your website/blog or sales page. The first few pages are crucial in sales writing and if you don't have the skills to keep the interest of your audience at this vital opening; your site will fail. With video however, keeping their attention becomes much easier because video is a visual medium - as soon as it starts people are on familiar ground. Who do you know who doesn't watch TV for at least 2 hours a day? Using video technology, keeping visitors on your sales page becomes something that even the most inexperienced blogger or website owner can do effectively. I will also show you how to get people to your sites, how to generate affiliate links and payment buttons by submitting simple taster videos to YouTube. These basic but hugely effective techniques can be used again and again to get more visitors to your sites more than you ever have had before. Congratulations on taking the first step towards making your business profitable on a whole new level. You won't regret it!
