Cynt gets sick and tired of working a job; sick of working for someone else. She wants to be her own freaking boss. After working two years part-time on a business venture, she decides to leave her good $60,000 a year Railroad Job and pursue her dream. She experienced bumps and bruises along the way. However, when she separated from her husband after a tour of duty as a stay at home mom and homeschooler, all hell broke loose. Instead of plugging back into a job like a normal person, she continued to pursue her dream of being an entrepreneur with no money. Never would she have imagined what awaited her on the yellow brick road of her decision.
