

The Famous: Book 3

This book is about three great women - Coco Chanel, Eleanor Roosevelt and Frida Kahlo- and one famous girl, Anne Frank. Annelies Marie Frank (1929 - 1945) was one of the most discussed Jewish victims of the Holocaust. She gained international fame posthumously after her diary was published. It documents her experiences hiding during the German occupation of the Netherlands in World War II. Anne Frank and her sister were transferred to the Bergen-Belsen concentration camp, where they died in March 1945. Otto Frank, the only survivor of the family, returned to Amsterdam after the war to find that Annes diary had been saved, and his efforts led to its publication in 1947. It has since been translated into many languages. It was translated from its original Dutch and first published in English in 1952 as The Diary of a Young Girl. The diary, which was given to Anne on her thirteenth birthday, chronicles her life from 12 June 1942 until 1 August 1944. Gabrielle (Coco) Bonheur Chanel (1883 - 1971) was a French fashion designer and founder of the Chanel brand. She is the only fashion designer listed on Time magazines list of the 100 most influential people of the 20th century. Along with Paul Poiret, Chanel was credited with liberating women from the constraints of the corseted silhouette and popularizing the acceptance of a sportive, casual chic as the feminine standard in the post-World War I era. A prolific fashion creator, Chaneles influence extended beyond couture clothing. Her design aesthetic was realized in jewelry, handbags, and fragrance. Her signature scent, Chanel No. 5, has become an iconic product. Chanel was known for her lifelong determination, ambition, and energy which she applied to her professional and social life. Anna Eleanor Roosevelt (1884 - 1962) was an American politician, diplomat, and activist. She was the longest-serving First Lady of the United States, holding the post from March 1933 to April 1945 during her husband President Franklin D. Roosevelt's four terms in office. President Harry S. Truman later called her the First Lady of the World in tribute to her human rights achievements. By the time of her death, she was regarded as one of the most esteemed women in the world and the object of almost universal respect. Eleanor Roosevelt was ranked in the top ten of Gallup's List of Most Widely Admired People of the 20th Century. Frida Kahlo de Rivera (1907–1954) was a Mexican painter. Her life began and ended in Mexico City, in her home known as the Blue House. Her work has been celebrated in Mexico as emblematic of national and indigenous tradition and by feminists for its uncompromising depiction of the female experience and form. Her work has been described from André Breton as a ribbon around a bomb. Kahlo had an explosive marriage with the famous Mexican artist Diego Rivera. She suffered lifelong health problems, many caused by a traffic accident she survived as a teenager. Recovering from her injuries isolated her from other people, and this isolation influenced her works, many of which are self-portraits of one sort or another. Kahlo suggested, I paint myself because I am so often alone and because I am the subject I know best. She also stated, I was born a bitch. I was born a painter.
