

667: Issue #6 (667: Children of the Beast)

Issue #6 What Dreams May Come What if everything you knew about yourself and the world was a lie? Would you choose to live up to the lies they fed you? Or think for yourself? How many more were there? With the name of the Laboratories that created them now known and a blog post that caught Violet by surprise, they are now starting to discover that there may be more of these genetically modified people roaming the Earth. Mysterious webbing and a phone call from an old friend sends everyone to Salem to investigate the possibility of another genetically modified human being. But Violet has other plans as they all are swept up in a nightmare of otherworldly proportions in a city that houses so many possible answers. Will these dreams show them just a glimpse in to their future, or will it drag all their souls to hell?
