

Eye on China: Its all in the Bag

All the things carried in our bags may pile up far beyond our limited memories, yet they often become cultural signs or markers of social, economic and historical changes. Bags and their contents in different periods depict the living standards as well as spiritual vision of the people. Revealing the economic and cultural development of society they serve to create a fascinating mirror of historical and living changes in this vast country. Bags, entangled with the complex threads of recent history, produce a stream of apt images and anecdotes reflecting a dynamically changing China.
