Excerpt: ... of that size have dono well, by keeping close in upon our own coast. We shall know better what she will do after she has been tried, returned Gardiner, evasively. What do you think of her for the Banks of Newfoundland? The Marthas Vineyard-man gave his brother-tar a quick, impatient glance, which pretty plainly said, tell that to the marines, when he opened the second chart, which as yet had been neglected. Sure enough, he muttered, in a low tone, though loud enough to be heard by the keenly attentive deacon; here it is--a chart of the West Indies, and of all the keys! By this casual, spontaneous outbreaking, as it might be, the deacon got another clue to the strangers knowledge, that gave him increased uneasiness. He was now convinced that, by means of the masters of the brig and the sloop, such information had been sent to the relatives of Daggett as had prepared them to expect the very revelations on which he hoped to establish his own fortunes. To what extent these revelations had been made, of course he could only conjecture; but there must have been a good deal of particularity to induce the individual who had come over to Oyster Pond to look into the two charts so closely. Under the circumstances, therefore, he felicitated himself on the precaution he had so early taken to erase the important notations from the paper. Captain Garner, your eyes are younger than mine, said the Vineyard-man, holding the chart up to the light-- will you be good enough to look here ?--does it not seem as if that key had been noted, and the words rubbed off the chart? This caused the deacon to peer over Roswell Gardiners shoulder, and glad enough was he to ascertain that the stranger had placed his finger on a key that must lie several hundred miles from that...
