

Siren Rock

Veterinarian Larina Bixby grew up in the coastal town of Siren Rock, raised by her father. She's never known her mother, but she learned the truth about her the day she became a woman, a truth that leaves Larina herself with a secret. She possesses a special gift that leaves her emotionally torn between two worlds. Her hope has been to live, love, and survive in one. Soon after resigning herself to the preposterous idea of a normal life and of ever knowing love, she once again meets the only man she has ever loved. Rodeo star Case Wade quit the circuit to pursue a career in music and the hand of the only woman he's ever loved. Soon after, however, he learns of a son, the result of a night on the road during his rodeo days. His hope for new romance shatters, as the boy's mother insists on having Case to herself and Larina flees Siren Rock for the Keys. Five years later, Larina is back, and Case must convince the woman he loves to try again. Though Case is irresistible, Larina is still reluctant to pursue a relationship, allowing her secret to keep them apart. But when her family is in danger, she and Case must decipher what are suspicions and what are truths to determine who has been watching and threatening her family.
