

Survivals Price: A Story of the Saurellian Federation

Damian is a smuggler who's been out in space too long. He needs to get laid. Bad. Cybele knows how to make a man scream with pleasure, but she's also an assassin with a contract to fulfill. When she meets Damian in a portside strip club, she thinks he'll be easy prey. She's wrong. Survivals Price is a short story that takes place within the Saurellian Federation series, but can be read on its own. Note: This book was originally published in 2003 under the name Joanna Wylde. When the rights to these early works reverted, I decided to republish them under JB Wylde. The majority of my readers have gotten to know me through these later books, and while I want the earlier ones to be available, it's also important that people know they're from two very different stages in my writing career.
