

The North American Review, 1925, Vol. 222 (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from The North American Review, 1925, Vol. 222 Tax reform does not mean merely a reduction in rates. It means revising the Whole tax system in such a way that it will produce the revenue required for the Governments needs over a long period of years, without having a detrimental effect on the nor mal, healthy development of the country. Of course, tax redue tion gives the opportunity for tax reform. But it is only by reducing rates scientifically and perhaps omitting altogether the imposition of some taxes, that we can achieve the end desired.
