

A Short Story Collection: By The Traveler

Fans of short story collections are sure to discover in this book an eclectic and interesting array of creative tales. Dr. H. L. Graham used his extensive travels and experiences over the years as the basis for his unique characters and for the varied settings of his stories. You will first meet Father Ambrose, a priest whose ambitions and naivete draw him into humorous instances as he is sent from one parish to another by his superiors in hopes he will learn from his mistakes. Dr. Graham's work with, and counseling of, inner-city gangs in South Boston, MA is the basis of The Kings. This poignant story of one member of a gang will pull at the hearts of all those concerned with our present day youth. This collection includes stories of past time travel in Virginia, as well as a futuristic story entitled Armageddon 2050. The last story in the collection finds you in the deserts of North Africa during WW1 with the theme of money, money everywhere and the results of the greed of one lone military figure.
