

The Soldier Plantation

This book is based on a theory of how the British have been deceiving the Americans since 1776, by causing a conflict between America and the countries that the British want to occupy and protect their assets world wide, making the Americans believe that all of these wars were started by the Americans and that the British are our Allies, when in all actuality they had started those wars and we have been their allies. The British are using our American soldiers to fight their wars; and pay off the American Politicians not to give health care to the poor so that they have no alternative but to become a soldier in what the British call their Soldier Plantation.
