

The Treaty-Making Power of the United States, Vol. 1: Part I. The United States Is a Nation; Part II. Historical Review of the Treaty-Making Power of the United States (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from The Treaty-Making Power of the United States, Vol. 1: Part I. The United States Is a Nation; Part II. Historical Review of the Treaty-Making Power of the United States A little over a year ago the original manuscript of this work, upon which nearly three years had then been spent, was handed to the publisher with the hope and expectation that the single volume then in contemplation would be completed and offered to the reading public within the following sixty days. Such hope and expectation, however, failed to be realized as the necessity for revision of, and additions to, the original manuscript and the pages as they returned from the printer, resulted in expanding the work to its present proportions, and in delaying its publication until the present time. The increased bulk of these volumes it is hoped, is, to some extent, atoned for by the thoroughness with which they have been indexed, for that part of the work can be referred to without egotism as it has been done almost, if not entirely, by Mr. E. E. Treffrey whose ability as an analyzer and indexer of works of this nature has earned for him a well deserved reputation.
