

Pattys Social Season

Patty, do come along and get your luncheon before everything grows cold! And the stars are old, And the leaves of the judgment book unfold, chanted Patty, who had just learned this new song, and was apt to sing it at unexpected moments. She sat on the floor in the middle of the long drawing-room of her New York home. To say she was surrounded by flowers, faintly expresses it. She was hemmed in, barricaded, nearly smothered in flowers. They were or had been in enormous florists boxes, and as fast as Patty opened the boxes and read the cards which accompanied the blossoms, Jane took the boxes away. It was the great occasion of Pattys debut, and in accordance with the social custom, all her friends had sent her flowers as a message of congratulation. You certainly have heaps of friends, said Elise, who was helping arrange the bouquets.
